MISS YANKEES IN CAMBRIDGE

(Correspondence Associated Press)
CAMBRIDGE, Eng., Aug. 27.—The departure of the American soldier students from Cambridge University is regretted. They are missed. "Quite a gap has been left by the Americans," the correspondent was told by W. F. Reddaway, of Fitz William Hall, censor of non-college students, and the Rev. J. P. Whitney, professor of ecclesiastical history of Emmanuel College, which was John Harvard's put in a quick corroboration. "Indeed they are," said he. "They were a cheery lot. We all liked them. They lent quite a bit of color."
The university authorities generally were impressed by the earnestness with which some of the Americans buckled down to work. All did not work hard, however, many taking the view that they would profit more by looking about in a leisurely fashion, studying English practices and manners and cultivating the social side of things than they would by burying themselves in books and lecture rooms during their limited stay. Cambridge is beginning to make a bid for American students who look to Europe as a field for postgraduate work. Formerly Americans had great difficulty in securing degrees of Doctor of Philosophy in British universities, so they went to Germany. Cambridge now has arranged a Ph. D. Sir Geoffrey said that will have a special appeal to American researchers.

English postgraduate students like the Americans; used to go to Germany. To offset a resumption of that practice, Cambridge is arranging to have its own, as justified to universities in the United States.
Remember that an act of charity works both ways.

STOPS THE LEAKS WARM WELCOME AT WASHINGTON FOR TAHITIANS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—If the Senate adopts the legislation already passed by the House making sweeping changes in the government printing system, which has become notoriously extravagant during the past few years it will serve the double purpose of effecting a great financial saving to the government and of putting an end to a system whereby the administration has succeeded in sending broadcast at the government's expense vast quantities of propaganda literature favorable to its policies. It has been disclosed that a number of special bulletins and publications instituted during the war on shape public opinion have been continued by the administration.

(Correspondence Associated Press)
PAPEETE, Tahiti, July 15.—Age-old Polynesian customs and arts of song and dance half forgotten by the natives in their swing toward European customs, were revived during the great festival which during the past few weeks welcomed home Tahitian veterans of the great war.
Many formerly quick came from semi-civilization and gave a picturesque head of royal proportions in the old king's palace.
The idea of dancing company, presenting evolutions but unlike the Hawaiian hula-dance, was seen again and the famous and by musical experts to be unique in all the world, was seen. In the hula, lately abandoned for hymns and European songs taught by missionaries, short phrases of great originality and often of great beauty are woven together in four or five parts without dissonance. Some liken it to Wagnerian choruses.

One colorful feature of the celebration was the lantern parade when young and old, carrying torches danced through the highways and byways of the town. The square, lighted all about with paper lanterns while flower crowned women promenaded with husbands or sweethearts presented a romantic picture of old Tahiti.
When the battalion of Tahitian soldiers arrived they were greeted by great crowds of brilliantly attired natives crowding piers and beach. They marched through triumphal arches of palms and after being of formally welcomed by Governor Joseph Robert were taken over to the crowds.
The festival continued more than two weeks. Other settlements of the island have made preparations for other celebrations to follow.

SEATTLE LAW INVOKED AGAINST 10c COFFEE

SEATTLE, Aug. 28.—Who against 10-cent coffee was started here today when United States District Attorney Robert C. Saunders instructed prosecuting attorney Fred A. Brown to institute criminal action against restaurants that charge 10 cents for cups of coffee. Recently it was announced that all Seattle restaurants had signed an agreement to raise the price of coffee from 5 to 10 cents. Saunders announced the agreement was reached in violation of the law.
"I see in town. Honey!"
and used, literally to support its policies. This has been found to be especially true of a government publication circulated among educational institutions, which recently suggested, editorially, that schools should continue to teach children "cultivation of the league of nations attitude of mind for all."
